Subject: Childhood Immunization Conference

Childhood Immunization Conference April 6th, 2017

The Kankakee County Health Department is holding a half-day Childhood Immunization Conference on April 6th at the Kankakee Community College from 8:30am to 12pm. The presenters include Karriann Longtin, a Certified Pediatric Nurse Practitioner from Riverside Medical Center, and Jan Daniels, a Regional Immunization Program Specialist from the Illinois Department of Public Health. This conference is intended for everyone in the healthcare, school, or social service community that works with school age children. You will gain knowledge on childhood immunizations, including the requirements for the 2017-2018 school year, religious exemptions, and how to promote immunizations among children. The cost is only $10, 2½ continuing education credit will be awarded upon completion for social workers and nurses, and breakfast will be provided. You can register for this conference (course #LECT 9058.A16) by calling (815) 802-8207, going online to www.kcc.edu/comejoinus, or in-person at the Kankakee Community College Welcome Center.
